

How to translate whole documents – including First Night and Second Day Questions

Google has a quick way to translate whole documents. These translations are likely not perfect; however, they are a good start for your students to translate things such as the First Nigh Questions and Second Day Questions.

1. Go to translate.google.com
2. Make sure to click the Documents option at the top of the page.
3. Drag and drop, or navigate to the file you want to translate.

4. Select the destination language.
5. Click Translate.

6. Download the translated document. The website does its best to format the document exactly like the original.
